

Come and Sing the Beethoven Mass in C

on 3 November 2007

The Whitehall Choir invites you to their popular 'Come and sing' at the Church of the Holy Spirit, Clapham, which this year is on Saturday, 3 November 2007.

As usual, choral singers from all around London are welcome. The day will consist of morning and afternoon rehearsals, and an early evening concert to which we hope you will invite some guests.

The concert will be performed with accompaniment on the church's recently refurbished Hunter organ (dating from 1921).

The Conductor will be Whitehall Choir's Paul Spicer (www.paulspicer.com), with the Choir's new accompanist, James Longford (www.jameslongford.com). Both are eminent musicians, as well as being very good at making our events informative and fun.

Details

Coffee and registration: 10.30am (then breaks for lunch and tea).

Casual dress: throughout.

Concert: 5.30pm.

Music

We will use the Novello version (Berthold Tours edition). Please bring along your own score if you have it; otherwise music will be available to borrow (£10 refundable deposit).

Price: Singers, £15 (£10 concessions), to include tea/coffee/cakes.
Concert audience, £5

Location

Church of the Holy Spirit, Narbonne Avenue, Clapham SW4 (close to junction with Abbeville Road). Minutes from local cafes, restaurants, pubs etc which serve lunch.

Transport

10 minute walk from Clapham Common or Clapham South tube stations (both on the Northern Line); 2 minute walk from 155 or 255 bus routes (from Clapham Common Southside); 10 minute walk from 37 and 137 bus routes (from Clapham Park Road); free (Saturday) street parking where indicated.

How to book

For further details, and to book your tickets, reserve music etc, please visit our website www.whitehallchoir.org.uk

If you do not have access to the internet and have a query about this event or wish to make a general enquiry about joining the choir, please call Nicola Kirkup on 020 7215 6566 (daytime only).